

Monday 10/10/2005

Art Conservation after Katrina

A huge conservation effort is underway to restore the many artworks damaged by Hurricane Katrina ... and today we'll be talking with a conservation centre in Chicago that's trying to save hundreds of valuable pieces affected by the wet, hot and dirty conditions in post-hurricane New Orleans. With Heather Becker, CEO of the Conservation Centre.

Presenter: Sian Prior

Researcher: Sally Nowlan