Hello Beautiful! marks the one-year anniversary of Hurricane Katrina with Hello! Fellow Jane Fulton Alt. The Chicago-born photographer's exhibit Look and Leave: New Orleans in the Wake of Katrina is currently at the Wilmette Public Library.

She talks with host Edward Lifson about her experiences capturing those photos, and they reach into the Chicago Public Radio vault for pieces about the Chicago Conservation Center's efforts to salvage hurricane-damaged art...City of Chicago cultural historian Tim Samuelson's reflections on architect Louis Sullivan's Gulf retreat...and Eight Forty-Eight contributor Beth Finke's sensual memories of New Orleans.
