

Mural musings

Michael Sneed

June 25, 2006

After being hidden under decades of grime, one of the city's most important collections of Progressive and New Deal murals will soon regain their original glory.

*Translation: Watch for Mayor Daley to announce Thursday that sufficient funds have been raised to restore all 58 murals at Chicago Park District field houses. Hizzoner will be joined by Chicago Conservation Center CEO Heather Becker, Center board members Norman Bobbins and Marshall Field V and Park District Supt. Timothy Mitchell.